Watessing Methodists' Excursion.
The excursion of the Watessing M. E. Sunday-school to Iona Island, on the Hudson last Saturday was one of the most successful and enjoyable ever conducted by the school. The day was a perfect one so far as the weather was concerned. The delightful breeze from the river tempered the heat and made it very pleasant, and the atmosphere was clear, giving the excursionists a fine opportunity to enjoy the beautiful scenery. Pastor Clement, who was brought up around Rockland Lake, and is perfectly familiar with the points of interest along the river, added much to the enjoyment of the excursionists by his stock of information of a geographical, historical, and literary character.

The steamboat Crystal Stream left the Erie dock a little before nine and arrived at the Island precisely at noon. A pleasing incident was to find quite a colony of former residents of Watessing on the island dock to greet the excursionists. The party consisted of Thomas Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Ferguson, John Bowker and family, Messrs. Fred. Coons and James Longshaw, all of whom reside in Newburgh, about eighteen miles further up the river, and had come down on the West Shore train.

Everybody was delighted with the island, and all agreed that a better place could not have been picked out. A grand rush was made for the grove, where a number of tables afforded an excellent place for spreading a lunch. Those who failed to take lunch went to the hotel. After partaking of refreshments the excursionists busied themselves with the usual enjoyments of a picnic. The children took to the merry-go-round and the boat-swings and games in the pavilion. Some of the boys went fishing, while others took their best girls out boating. The proprietor of the photograph gallery did a good business, and the boys with sporting blood in their veins patronized the shooting gallery. The more sentimental wended their way among the mountain paths about the island, while others sat along the river bank and watched the passing boats. The party stayed on the island about three hours and a half.

The sail homeward in the afternoon was equally delightful with that of the morning, and when the special train on the Watessing branch landed the excursionists at Watessing about 7:45 there was a unanimous declaration that the day had proved one of the most enjoyable ever experienced. No accident marred the day's pleasure. The excursion was under the management of Samuel Ellor and A. H. Edgerly, and both had given a great deal of attention to the detail work, and with the exception of leaving behind a bunch of bananas everything went like clock-work, and it is safe to say that the excursion of the Watessing M. E. Sunday-school is destined to be an annual social event in Watessing that will be looked forward to with a pleasant expectancy.

In a Shower of Rocks

Adrian V. Walling of Thornton Street met with a thrilling experience while riding on his bicycle along Mill Street, in Belleville. Shafts are being sunk in the red sandstone rock in the roadway for the outlet sewer trench. Dynamite is used for blasting the rock, and Mr. Walling rode by just as the workmen had prepared a blast. They did not warn him, and as he passed the shaft the blast was discharged and a shower of broken rock descended in a perpendicular line with the crown of his head. Quick as a flash Mr. Walling applied extra pace to the pedals and barely escaped the huge rock which struck the ground behind him with a dull thud. Mr. Walling is an expert wheelman, and his fortunate escape is due to that fact.

Every Chief Engineer Should be Sent

It is to the interest of every city and town where they have a fire department under the direction of a chief engineer to have that chief attend the annual convention of the National Association of Fire Chiefs. At this convention the latest improved methods of fire fighting are discussed, the dangers of electricity are shown, and the advantages of this much discussed but little understood fire are pointed out, papers on improvement in construction of buildings are read, and all the latest improvements in fire-fighting appliances are shown. It is in fact a regular school of instruction for fire chiefs, and no chief engineer can afford to miss the opportunity to learn the new ideas in his profession. Besides this it affords an opportunity for the chiefs of different cities to become acquainted with each other. What the chiefs learn at these annual conventions is a gain in better protection for the cities where they are in service. For this reason every city or town should send its fire chief to the annual convention, and should make an appropriation for his expenses. Many places already do this, and these places have set an example that should be generally followed. It is not reasonable to ask a man to pay his own expenses to attend a convention for the express purpose of gaining knowledge for the benefit of his fellow-citizens. It is enough that he gives his time for this purpose. As a rule a fire chief does not get a salary sufficiently large to enable him to go to these conventions, and he is forced to stay at home and forego the opportunity thus afforded to learn what there is new in the business. The convention this year will be held at Louisville, Ky., October 4, 5, and 6, and every chief engineer should be there. —The Fireman's Herald.

W. V. S. & Co. HEATH & DRAKE

The chief object of our advertisement to-day is to prepare you for our advertisement next week. You have probably known us for years and have learned to depend upon what we say; but we are going to make some startling statements next week, and we don't want to take your breath away by springing them too suddenly. A hint is sufficient — our REMOVAL SALE PRICES will go into effect by the time our next advertisement appears here.

In some lines we have already begun the cutting process, but what has been is nothing to what will be.

The Men's Furnishing Department, however, has been visited with the pruning knife and has been treated pretty severely. We are offering Outing Shirts made of Cheviot and Madras at $2, $1, $1.50 and $1.25 which sold at $2.50, $1.25, $1.75 and $1.45 lately. Furthermore, every bit of "fixing" that naturally goes with an outing shirt, such as Neckties, Scarfs, Belts, etc., has been marked way down. Men's Underwear—the finest material and lightest weight—is also already on the cut list. A man can array himself for hot weather very cheaply here.

For ladies we have some good bargains in Cambric and Satine Waists, in Wrappers, in Spring Cloaks, in Blazers and in Silk Waists. Remember next week. A dollar will go farther than it ever went before if spent here.

Read our advertisement in this paper next issue.
